Program: "2018 Annual Oil and Gas Outlook"

Speaker: Bob Tippee – Oil & Gas Journal - Houston, TX

The Oil & Gas Industry has been in a downturn for the past several years. Annually, Oil & Gas Journal compiles geopolitical and industry information impacting the direction of Oil & Gas supply and demand, and projects the effects these factors will have in the coming year on the industry. Oil & Gas Journal publishes these results in the February Edition of their magazine, and presents their assessment to groups throughout the Greater Houston Area.

Bob Tippee is Editor of Oil & Gas Journal, a weekly trade magazine, and its web site, Oil & Gas Journal Online. Since joining the Journal in 1977, he has written on all aspects of the international petroleum industry, with special interest in economics, energy policy, geophysics, and the Middle East. His work for the magazine has won awards from American Business Media, New York Society of Business Press Editors, Association of Petroleum Writers, International Association for Energy Economics, International Association of Energy Advocates, and Houston Society for Technical Communications. He also has won the Cicero Speechwriting Award and is the 2010 recipient of American Business Media's Crain Award. Tippee became the Journal's chief editor in January 1999. He also was Editor-in-Chief of the 1997 through 2001 editions of the Journal's annual affiliate, International Petroleum Encyclopedia. Bob is the director of three PennWell Petroleum Group conferences and has written or co-written several books on the oil and gas industry. A native of St. Louis, Missouri, he holds a degree in Journalism from the University of Tulsa and served as an officer in the U.S. Air Force for four years.
